August 4, 2024
18th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Since my college days I've loved a song called "Dance with You" by the rock band Live. It touches on the deep mystical hunger of our heart: "I've tasted all the wines/ a half a billion times/ came sickened to your shore/ you showed me what this life is for." These lines resonate with anyone who has feasted on the good things of this world only to be left spiritually hungover and unsatisfied.

We see a similar dynamic evoked by Jesus' words after he feeds the crowd with bread and fish. To teach them to hunger for God, he recalls God's gift of manna-bread for the hungry ancient Israelites. Those folks had grown spiritually sick from the idolatrous food of Egypt yet still longed for more worthless pagan food. So, God sent heavenly bread to nourish their bodies, but also to heal their distrustful hearts. His people — like us — must learn to hunger and thirst for God alone. Before we can receive that which will not disappoint, we first must cease expecting that earthly goods will satisfy us.

We will get to the Lord's teaching on the Eucharist in the next two weeks. But first, he asks us: do you trust me to take care of you? Do you trust me to give you what you need for each day, and to not worry about the next day? Do you see that when you hungrily stuff yourself with the things of this world you become sick and lose your taste for the bread of life? So, our hungry hearts cry out: Lord, help us to trust that you'll provide for our every need. Help us to use only what we truly need. Help us hunger for the goodness of your Son, who is the true bread from heaven. That is what this life is for.

Home Visits

The mission of St. Vincent de Paul has always been to offer person-to-person service to those in need. One way we do this is through our home visits.

Neighbors in need contacted our SVdP St. Gabriel team regarding a neighbor in need of rent assistance.

The neighbor's disability payment was delayed and would not be reinstated in time to pay rent. Our team did a home visit and decided we needed to assist in order to avoid eviction.

This particular neighbor is challenged in the ability to communicate effectively. He has the biggest heart with so much appreciation for your generosity.

After My Own Heart

From Man to Christian to Priest

by Michael Salemi, Seminarian

Part 8 – The Role of a Shepherd: Teach, Govern, and Sanctify

"I will appoint for you shepherds after my own heart, who will shepherd you wisely and prudently." (Jer 3:15)

Human formation lays the building's foundation, spiritual formation builds the walls, intellectual formation supports the building, and pastoral formation is the roof of the structure that brings everything together and completes this analogy. If seminaries only focused on intellectual formation, they would be only forming theologians. If the focus was only spiritual, they would be forming contemplative monks. If the focus was only human, they would be forming counselors. The first three pillars are focused interiorly on the individual growth of the seminarian. The pastoral pillar enters each of these and transforms them to no longer be focused interiorly but exteriorly toward others. Clerics have a three-fold office to fulfill for their people – to teach, to govern, and to sanctify – and these offices are the exterior forms of the intellectual, human, and spiritual pillars.

The Word of God is the one Person of the Trinity who became Incarnate, and the very nature of a word is to communicate to another. The majority of Christ's ministry was spent teaching the people. Similarly, the focus of a priest's time in his ministry is toward teaching the people. The priest is responsible for the preparation of his flock so that they can go out and preach the Gospel well to others. Notice this relationship: the priest teaches his people, and these people are the ones to evangelize. It is the job proper to the laity to go and bring the Gospel to the rest of the world. The seminarian, especially during the configuration stage, is tasked with teaching OCIA, sacramental classes, and other groups in preparation for the teaching office of the priesthood.

When He disembarked and saw the vast crowd, His heart was moved with pity for them, for they were like sheep without a shepherd. (Mk 6:34) Christ is the Good Shepherd that guides the flock and recovers those who go astray. A priest is called to follow this example and guide his people. The office of governance is not about parish administration. A priest is not the CEO of the business called a "parish". He is a shepherd called to guide people in need of direction. The priest, as shepherd, must spend himself in service to his people. Whether this is in preparation for joyous occasions, such as marriage and children being born, or for times of grief, the priest is to be available to guide the individuals and families through such times to bring them closer to God. The seminarian prepares to be a shepherd through corporal works of mercy. Whether through prison ministry, hospital ministry, or serving the poor, he experiences the struggles of others and enters into them so that he may better help his future flock.

Christ as the High Priest has reconciled us back to God and is the one who sanctifies us through the sacraments. A priest, as alter Christus, administers the sacraments to his people and prays for them throughout the day with the Liturgy of the Hours. The primary focus of a priest is toward the salvation of the souls under his care. Indeed, as the pastor of a parish, he will be held directly accountable before God for the souls under his care. Therefore, he must always strive to be available for administering confession, anointing of the sick, and last rites above all. Through his personal life of prayer, the seminarian strives to have his heart conformed to that of Christ so he may better bring Christ to others. The ultimate goal is to say the words of St. Paul: yet I live, no longer I, but Christ lives in me; insofar as I now live in the flesh, I live by faith in the Son of God who has loved me and given himself up for me. (Gal 2:20)
