Facts 4 Life

-St. Gabriel's Respecting Life Ministry

Women and girls account for 71% of all trafficked victims detected globally. Young girls represent almost three quarters of identified child trafficking victims.

While women still represent most trafficking victims, the proportion of identified male victims has increased from 16% in 2004 to 29% in 2014.

Gospel Meditation

October 18, 2026

Twenty-Ninth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Matthew 22:15-21

Occasionally, I'll slip into a parish I've never visited before, pick up the bulletin, and find one of my Gospel reflections. My heart usually swells with a bit of affection for my creation. I imprint a bit of myself into my little "literary labors of love."

Anyone who has created something — a piece of writing, a garden, a meal, a child — knows that feeling. We love the things into which we put ourselves. We are happy when they return to us.

With this in mind, listen to Jesus' classic line in this Sunday's Gospel: "Then repay to Caesar what belongs to Caesar and to God what belongs to God" (Matthew 22:21). He presents this little riddle to deepen the theme from taxes to human beings. A Roman coin bears Caesar's image, so it belongs to Caesar. Therefore, he has a legitimate claim to it. Fair enough. But what belongs to God? What bears His image? Every human being. God has imprinted Himself on every person. Which means everyone — including Caesar — belongs entirely to Him. Jesus, who is God's perfect image, has come to draw everyone back to God.

We can be tempted to imagine that our lives are made up of "things for God" and "things not for God." The good news is that no such division is possible because everything in life is a gift from God to us. Therefore, all is meant to be placed at the service of God's kingdom. He loves everything He has created. We have the privilege of giving it all back to Him.

Angelus Food Forest Dedication

OCTOBER 25 | 11:30AM

Join us as Fr. Tim dedicates and blesses our parish and school food forest. The Angelus is a living sanctuary rooted in prayer, stewardship, and reverence for God's creation—a place where nature works in harmony to provide nourishing food, restore the land, and invite reflection, learning, and community.

Sunday, directly after the 10:30am mass. The Angelus food forest is located through the gate north of the Youth Center playground.

Seminary Series

Did You Know?

Glory to Jesus Christ! Glory to Him forever!

For those of you who don't know, the Diocese of Phoenix is in the process of constructing its very own Major Seminary, right here in the Diocese of Phoenix! It is called Nazareth Seminary, and it has been my home for the past five years. The seminary was established in 2019.

Many of you have asked me how the seminary process works, and so I decided to give you all a brief yet sufficient explanation.

In the past, the Diocese of Phoenix would send seminarians to various seminaries – mostly in Ohio, Rome, Denver, Oregon, and Indiana. When Bishop Dolan was installed in our diocese, one of the first things he did was expand the seminary within our diocese to include all the stages of formation up to ordination.

That way, seminarians could know and be known by the people of their home diocese while simultaneously receiving extensive human, spiritual, intellectual, and pastoral formation.

Additionally, the seminary looks a lot different from most traditional seminaries. Nazareth Seminary consists of a group of Seminary Houses – mostly renovated convents and friaries – where seminarians live and are formed in community. The University of Mary provides the majority of our academic formation.

There are three specific phases of seminary formation: Propaedeutic, Discipleship, and Configuration.

One seminary rector describes the process very well: "In the Propaedeutic stage, we form the man. In the Discipleship stage, we form the Christian. In the Configuration stage, we form the priest."

SHOULD CATHOLICS TAKE INTO ACCOUNT THEIR OWN FAITH AT THE MOMENT OF VOTING?

It only makes sense that if Catholics are supposed to live their faith in all of their daily activities that they should also take their faith into account while voting. As noted in the Second Vatican Council's teaching, "every citizen ought to be mindful of his right and his duty to promote the common good by using his vote" (Gaudium et Spes, 75).

In preparing to vote, Catholics need to understand their faith so that their consciences are properly formed. Subsequent to this formation, it is important to research all of the important issues and candidates that will appear on the ballot. Only after sufficient preparation and prayer, is a Catholic fully ready to discharge his or her responsibilities as a faithful citizen and cast a meaningful vote.

"How is confession like autumn?"

"You turn over a new leaf."

God is good! We can encounter His mercy and love in confession, where His grace covers our sins and we leave with a clean soul.
